

Before the Fall

Fake Meat & Genetic Engineering 2.0

Genetically engineered fake meat and dairy, misleadingly described as “precision fermentation,” and “plant-based protein,” is basically unregulated and unlabeled. So-called Synthetic Biology (SynBio), or GE 2.0, poses a direct threat to farmers, consumers, and the environment.

The Brave New World of engineered lab foods and crops is lavishly funded and orchestrated by the transnational food giants. These megalomaniac Great Resettlers are openly declaring their intention to eliminate the animal agriculture and animal husbandry practices carried out by a billion small farmers and pastoralists across the globe, ignoring the fact that the world’s 70 billion farm animals are essential to rural livelihoods, human nutrition, and the health of the soil (animal manure in compost and proper grazing).

Farm animals, properly raised and nurtured, are absolutely necessary to regenerate our degraded carbon, nitrogen, and water cycles, and restore the biodiversity of the planet.

Building a Worldwide Movement Against “Corona Tyranny”

Michel Chossudovsky, in the final chapter of his new book, The Worldwide Corona Crisis: Global Coup D’état Against Humanity, writes:

“Our intent is to confront the powerful actors behind this criminal endeavor which is literally destroying people’s lives worldwide, while creating divisions within society. The impacts on mental health on population groups worldwide are devastating.

The numerous lockdowns documented in previous chapters (stay at home of the workforce), fear campaigns, COVID-19 policy mandates imposed on approximately 193 member states of the United Nations have also contributed to undermining and destabilizing the very fabric of civil society.”

Court Smacks USDA for Lack of Transparency in GMO Labeling

As Carey Gillam reports: “Years of legislative and court battles over the labeling of genetically engineered (GE) foods took another turn this week when a federal court determined on Tuesday that the US Department of Agriculture (USDA) erred in allowing food companies to label GE products simply with digital codes that consumers have to scan, without any accompanying disclosure options.

Under USDA rules that took full effect earlier this year, food made with genetically modified crops can be labeled simply as ‘bioengineered’ (BE), or come with a QR code guiding consumers to more information online, among other options.

But the court said those rules did not comply with the law, and found that the USDA knew that allowing ‘standalone electronic disclosure’ would not provide consumers ‘sufficient access’ to disclosures about bioengineering involved in creating certain products...”

Organized Crime, the Deep State, COVID-19, and the Road Forward

Mercola.com writes:

“Whitney Webb’s new book, One Nation Under Blackmail: The Sordid Union Between Intelligence and Crime That Gave Rise to Jeffrey Epstein, provides the framework to understand not just the role and function of Epstein, but also, more broadly, the mess we’re now finding ourselves in.

While it may appear as though organized crime is being combated, this is rarely ever the case. Stories of cracking down on organized crime are cover stories to hide what’s really happening, which is the consolidation of organized crime territory.

The incentive behind all this criminal activity is not merely the hoarding of money to live in the lap of luxury. It’s about power and control over others. The good news is we can pull the plug on their plans...”

From Frankenfoods to Real-Life Frankensteins

On September 20, Organic Consumers Association's Political Director Alexis Baden-Mayer talked with certified holistic nutritionist Jodi Suson of Suson Essentials on her Self-Cell Care Show which airs on Blog Talk Radio's the Female Solution.

Alexis and Jodi discussed the evolution of Frankenfoods since the introduction of Monsanto's first GMO, its recombinant bovine growth hormone. They reviewed Monsanto's "evil genius" plots to take over the food supply and came to a startling conclusion about where all of this is headed.
