Reigniting Freedom and Democracy: Five Steps

In recent years the Organic Consumers Association and our family of organizations (OCA, Regeneration International, Via Organica, Citizen's Regeneration Lobby, Millions Against Monsanto) have helped popularize and spread the notion of organic and regenerative food, farming, and land-use, doing our best to bring together networks of food, farming, and natural health activists into a greater synergy, a national and global Movement of planting peace and justice and regenerating our health, freedom, and democracy. In line with our mission, we are happy to endorse the initial Five Action Steps of the Reignite Democracy/Freedom Movement.

Suzanne Burdick explains the Five Steps in the Defender September 29: "It's time to take practical steps — individually and collectively — to impede the globalist agenda and empower ourselves to move toward creating the lives we want to live, according to Reignite Freedom." Reignite Freedom is a new global Movement that arose out of the Resistance to the COVID lockdowns and the Great Reset in Australia, but is now spreading across the world.

The Attack on Herbs & Supplements is a Racket

Tessa Lena aka "Tessa Fighting Robots" writes:

"The pharmaceutical investors and their pocket politicians are emboldened. They couldn't be happier if the healing herbs and supplements were regulated off the market and taken away from the people. It is a continuation of the centuries-old attack on the 'knowers' and the healers. It is a fat and painful reminder that this centuries-old attack was abusive and destructive the very second it started—and that it is not going to stop until we stop it. No, no, it is not about the protection of our interests because ... look around! The same financial interests whose servants purport to protect us from the boogeyman of dietary supplements are poisoning our food, our air, and our water, and chasing us with syringes filled with toxic liquid!"

Fake Food: Vested Interests of the Frankenfoods 2.0 Cheerleaders

Claire Robinson of GMWatch writes:

"A large number of European scientists active in agricultural biotechnology research who are actively lobbying for deregulating new gene editing techniques have direct or indirect vested interests in the marketing of plants derived from those techniques, through patents, patent applications, or links with the seed industry. This is revealed today by a new report commissioned by the Greens/EFA in the European Parliament: Behind the smokescreen: Vested interests of EU scientists lobbying for GMO deregulation."

Bt and GMOs

Regeneration International Director Dr. Andre Leu writes:

"Bacillus thuringiensis (Bt) puts out toxic compounds that cause inflammation and tissue damage in the organs of specific insect pests such as caterpillars.

The genes from Monsanto's patented Bt have been inserted into several genetically modified crops so that the plants produce pesticides themselves. The GM industry argues that this is no different from what organic farmers do when they spray Bt bacteria; however, this is a massive distortion of the facts. Organic farmers spray live bacteria onto the crop, not the Bt toxins. During the night and early morning, pests eat the bacteria, infecting them so that the bacteria release their toxins and eventually kill the pests. It is destroyed by ultraviolet light, so usually, none will survive more than a day or two, and consumers will not be affected by the toxins produced by Bt."

The Democratic Party:

Now the Leading Party for War

John V. Walsh reports:

"Last May a remarkable column by Stephen Kinzer appeared in the Boston Globe. It was headlined: 'Republicans Return to Their Roots as The Antiwar Party.'

More significantly, the subheading ran: 'Since the Vietnam era, Americans have come to expect antiwar rhetoric from liberal Democrats. Cancel that. This month's votes in Washington signal a dramatic role reversal. Suddenly it is conservative Republicans who oppose US involvement in foreign wars.'

Bill Gates Doubles Down on Digital IDs

We've apparently stopped the COVID lockdowns and medical mandates temporarily, but we are still in the "eye of the storm."

Michael Nevradakis writes:

"The Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation (BMGF) this month said it will invest $200 million in digital ID projects, encompassing "digital public infrastructure, including civil registry databases and digital ID" to help meet the 2030 target date for reaching the United Nation's (UN) Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs). The $200 million in new funding — part of an overall $1.27 billion commitment by the BMGF in support of "global health and development projects," is closely tied to Goal 16.9 of the SDGs, for which "digital identity programs are supposedly needed," Reclaim the Net reported."
